

Bd Selectmen meeting canceled. Aug 4, 2020 at 5 PM

This is from the department of emergency services:

The center of T.S. Isaias is forecast to make its closest approach (close to western CT) at approximately 4:00 PM (6 hours from now) this afternoon. The most likely timing for the tropical storm force winds is still from 2:00 PM – 7:00 PM. The primary threat from Isaias will be from strong winds. Based on the current NHC forecast we can expect a high end moderate to borderline major impact to trees. The models are indicating that the tropical storm is going to still be packing gusts between 65 – 75 MPH in Western Connecticut and between 55 - 65 MPH in Eastern CT as it's rain bands move thru the state. This is a zoom meeting and the cable is the first utility to go out.

I am canceling the meeting. Next meeting will be in two weeks.

Thank you.
